

The San Francisco Early Music Society
Medieval & Renaissance Workshop Collegium

for voices, recorders, viols, harps, sackbuts, dulcians and all manner of early instruments:

“All vol, all vol!”

*German Sacred (and not-so-sacred) Songs:
from the Glogauer Liederbuch and Ludwig Senfl*

with MedRen director

Adam Knight Gilbert

Saturday April 25, 2015

9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Hillside Community Church

1422 Navellier Street, El Cerrito

~ Potluck lunch ~

This all-day workshop will focus on German songs and devotional music as well as more rustic fare. Featured will be songs from the Glogauer Liederbuch, with its unique liturgical chant settings, and songs by Ludwig Senfl, both moral and comic. The workshop is open to all voices and early instruments. ALMOST all the music will be texted. Adam promises to share with you that special secret Glogauer Phrygian cadence! Please spend the day with us making glorious music. Workshop pitch: A=440

Bring your instruments, music stands and pencils. Lunch is potluck. Coffee and tea will be provided.

This collegium day raises scholarship funds to help SFEMS pay the tuition of participants who could not otherwise afford to attend the summer Medieval & Renaissance Workshop. Adam is generously donating his services toward this purpose.
